- The Department of Labor issued guidance to “ensure” religious freedoms are protected from LGBT non-discrimination rules,

- The Bureau of Prisons now requires that inmates be housed according to their biological sex, rolling back Obama-era protections for transgender individuals;
- President Trump banned transgender persons from serving in the military;
- The Trump Administration enacted a policy stating transgender Americans would not be guaranteed healthcare protections under the Affordable Care Act, potentially harming 1.5 million trans-Americans;
- The Trump Administration went to great lengths to prevent the Pride Flag from flying on a flagpole at the Stonewall National Monument, because the monument is on federal land;
- The Trump Administration announced it would cut federal funding for an HIV and AIDS research program being conducted by the University of California;

- The Trump Administration signed a trade agreement with Canada and Mexico that makes it clear the United States doesn't have to proactively combat anti-LGBTQ discrimination in order to adhere to the agreement;

- The Trump Administration's State Department announced a new policy that the same-sex, unmarried partners of United Nations employees will not be granted visas to stay in the U.S., effective immediately. In doing so, diplomats in same-sex partnerships who come from countries where same-sex marriage is illegal will either be forced to marry in the U.S. and risk repercussions, including threats, harassment, and even incarceration back home; quit their jobs; or separate for the sake of one partner's career;
- White House Press Secretary Sarah Huckabee Sanders told reporters that President Trump backs the position that businesses owners should be able to put up signs saying they won't serve gays;
- President Trump endorsed candidate Roy Moore, who has a violently anti-LGBTQ record and multiple well-documented accusations of sexual assault, abuse, and assessment, in the Alabama special Senate Election;
- President Trump ended the DACA program, which protected an estimated 800,000 young undocumented immigrants, including 36,000 LGBTQ DREAMers, from detention and deportation;
